

Star Crossed Lovers
(M. Hall & R. Hall)

Star-crossed lovers right from the start, they both were surprised when he stole her heart.
Her one in a million was lighting the dark.
But he wanted just to be free. All he wanted was just to be free.

She told him that he was the man of her dreams. She would go anywhere, she would do anything.
She would cross any desert or swim any sea.
Still he wanted just to be free. All he wanted was just to be free.

(chorus)

And they could have lived a fairy tale throughout eternity.
If he could have dumped his trunk of fears, or she could have shed her needs.

She prayed he'd come to see it her way, that somewhere inside he had a need.
He told her love was heaven or hell, and he found his peace in between.
He had found his peace in between.

Deep inside he cared for her, though his heart he just couldn't give.
Love's promises she saw as wings, and he saw as the edge of a cliff.
No, his hear he just couldn't give.

(repeat chorus)

(bridge)

She had played the fool for lesser things, and would risk it all this time.
His smile lit her heart like a spark of fire.
There was magic in his eyes. There was magic in his eyes.

And when life had passed through him, his heart was set free. Another ship passed in the night.
She wouldn't trade a moment of these years.
Though love had made her blind. She knew love had made her blind.

(chorus)

Star crossed lovers right from the start, they both were surprised when he stole her heart.
Her one in a million was lighting the dark.
But he wanted just to be free. Now the man is flying free.
